Thanksgiving Day was a very quiet day in town. Those who stayed at home were to be seen in their gardens digging up their root crops, others with gun in hand went in search of the remaining ducks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McRory paid a visit to town on Monday, coming by car.

Mr. and Mrs. Halliday, senr., are on a visit to the Hon. A. A. Halliday of town.

A movement is on foot whereby the local stores contemplate closing earlier at night, also may have a half holiday each week. A canvas was made of all the business men in town, and the result was almost unanimous. We hear there was just one objector.

News has been received from Iowa of the death of Tom Clark, on Oct. 3rd inst. Tom was an old timer of the Crossfield district, and his many friends will be deeply grieved at the sad intelligence.

Make Over Wounded Men

American Surgeons to Study Allied Methods for Own Use

Out of one detail of 1,350 wounded men sent for special treatment to a London hospital for crushed and broken bones, one thousand were able to return to active duty at the front, according to Maj. J. E. Goldthwait, United States reserve army surgeon, who has arrived from Europe. Major Goldthwait is one of twenty American medical officers who have been in France and England studying new methods of treating wounded. He returned to recruit surgeons to take up similar study that the American army may learn the benefit of the modern treatment of wounds from its own surgeons.

AN AGE OF WEAK NERVES

"No heart for anything" is the cry of thousands of men and women who might be made well by the new, red blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Misery day and night is the lot of many men and women who are today the victims of weak nerves. Their pale, drawn faces and dejected attitude tell a sad tale, for nervous weakness means being tortured by morbid thoughts and uncontrollable fits of depression. These sufferers are painfully sensitive and easily agitated by some chance remark. Sleeplessness robs them of energy and strength; their eyes are sunken, their limbs tremble, appetite is poor and memory often fails. This nervous exhaustion is one of the most serious evils affecting men and women today. The only way to bring back sound, vigorous health is to feed the starved nerves which are clamoring for new, rich, red blood. This new good blood can be had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which fact accounts for the thousands of cures of nervous diseases brought about by this powerful blood building and nerve restorer. Through the fair use of this medicine thousands of despondent people have been made bright, active and strong.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To Win the War
Gifford Pinchot, one of the foremost conservationists of the United States, says of the country: "The clear duty of the nation is to guarantee the farmer a fair price for their crops when grown, and a reasonable supply of labor at harvest. The clear duty of the farmer is to raise food enough to win this war for democracy against Kaiserism." This applies with equal force in Canada.

Max F. Wolff, editor of the German Herald, New York, on learning that he was in the first selective draft, declared his intention of asking for no exemption and of his willingness to fight for the Stars and Stripes.

Battle of Jutland

Germany Modest About Its Great and Glorious Victory

Many previous assurances on the highest of German authority that the naval battle off the coast of Jutland was a great and glorious German victory now get confirmation—of course none was really needed—by elaborate reviews of the three war years which the always accurate and trustworthy German newspapers have just published. To doubt the truth of this claim would be to impugn the veracity, and therefore the honor, of all the officers in the German navy beginning with its revered commander-in-chief, the kaiser, and running down through his admirals to grades low enough to be almost indistinguishable from common humanity. The enterprising of any doubt for more than the briefest of passing moments would be unthinkable.

If the Jutland battle was—or, to put it better, as it was—a German victory, why is it that the kaiser's grand fleet has not continued the work so well begun?

Months have passed since that day of a colossal, perhaps the colossal, regard for British seafarers! Germany shrinks in characteristic kindness from interrupting even on a negligible and hostile offense. The gain that would follow the revelation that its strangely over-celebrated and over-estimated navy was manned and officered by cravens and incompetents. Germans can be stern, they cannot be cruel—New York Times.

What "Boche" Means

It Is Equivalent to the American Term of Bone-Head

The term "Boche" as applied to the German soldiers, isn't a complimentary one, nor anything new. It is an old term in France, and means "thick-headed." It is about equivalent to our American term of bone-head.

In fact, the word comes from the Italian "boccia" and means a round ball of exceptionally hard wood used in playing ten pins. But just how it came to be applied to the German soldiers we do not know.

As a general rule, nicknames given to soldiers are not unkindly. The French soldier is called "pouille," which means hairy, because in the early French wars the soldiers had no opportunity to shave, or have their hair cut, and when they returned from the army they had a rough, hairy, uncouth appearance. But there was nothing unkindly in calling them "pouille."

The English are called "Tommy" because of a delicious poultice British soldiers made immortal in verse and given the name "Tommy Atkins." During the U. S. Civil War the Union troops were called "Yanks," as an abbreviation of the word "Yankee," and the Confederates were called "Johnny Rebs," from "Rebel." But never was there bitterness or aspersions in the terms.

But now we have the German soldiers generally called "Boches," or "Boneheads," and certainly not as a term of endearment. The appellation "Hun" which one sees in print frequently, also is a term of reproach and means that the German's present warfare and tactics assure of the barbarity of the Hun who, under Attila, came near overrunning Europe and destroying civilization. There were many of the Huns in the region that has since become Germany, but the German people, as a people, are not descendants of the Huns—Columbus Dispatch.

Waste of Food Stuff

Odds and Ends Thrown Away Amount to Vast Amount

Do not waste a slice of bread. There is an old saying, "Many micks make a muckle," and if there are many individual savings the total gain will be great. Do not be too proud to use odds and ends which might, otherwise, be cast into the garbage can. In Chicago, recently, the garbage was reduced from 400 loads per day to 200 loads a day due largely to the precautions of economy. Economy in the use of food stuffs should be practiced by those who live in the country as well as by those who dwell in the towns and cities. Get the real vision of economy and put it into daily practice. Every individual must realize the food shortage in all its magnitude and he must realize what want and famine would mean and then he must put forth every effort to prevent it. Do not leave it to the other fellow. Do your part. In the longer prevention is a thousand times better than cure. Eliminate all waste in your household.

Many children die from the assaults of worms and the first cure that many should be to see that their infants are free from these pests. A vermifuge is the most effective. It is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only expel worms from the system, but they will also kill the worms and a remedy for many of the ailments that beset infants, enfeebling them and endangering their lives.

One Good Turn

Kindness to Boche Prisoner Is Repaid After 47 Years

French kindness to a German prisoner forty-seven years ago is bearing fruit today. Early in the war of 1870 French troops took a young German officer prisoner and put him in a prison camp for the duration of the war. During the long weary months of waiting for peace the officer and his companions were given every latitude of privilege that a prisoner could ask.

Today Axel Richard, a young French officer and his companions in the German prison camp at Metz, are back in France. The German officer prisoner of 1870, now too old for active military service, is commander of the prison camp. Young Richard has written home to his folks in Paris for his tennis flannels and shoes, telling them why he is able to enjoy his recreation.

The commandant is not only a Frenchman, but he is a Frenchman, but he has purchased the tennis flannels, tennis balls, etc., from his own pen.

Food Control

The lesson of war ought not to be wasted when peace comes again. It may be that the pressure of industrial and economic competition between nations, resumed on a greater scale than ever before, will force the state everywhere to retain the food dictator. At least it would be folly for America to surrender to a lesson of social economy that other nations already have learned—and we doubtless soon will learn—New York Tribune.

Smallest Fighters In The Great War

Students From French Colonial Schools in Indo-China Volunteer

Annamite troops, "the little brown men," of France's colonies in Indo-China have just had their baptism of fire on the western front.

The Annamites are the smallest men participating in the European conflict, yet they have acquitted themselves in the fighting in a manner that gives them rank alongside with the troops of greatest physical endowments. The Annamite battalions are composed entirely of volunteers. Their first public appearance was on July 14, 1916, the French national holiday, when along with the Russian, Canadian, English, Belgian and Australian troops, they participated in the military parade at Paris.

Although without exception they are students from the French schools, colleges and universities in Indo-China.

The announcement there early in 1916 that volunteer battalions would be formed for service in France, received a tremendous response. The students enlisted almost to a man.

But the battalions are formed for fighting or other service, on the French front, the counts and the mandarins become merely the private soldiers that they temporarily are, and the brothers of all the rest.

When the Annamites were first brought to France there was no idea of using them as fighting troops. Their small stature seemed to preclude that. They were drilled and employed in all the various services of the rear, such as convey, chauffeurs, road builders, forestation work and similar occupations. Their proximity to the front, however, soon aroused in them an ardent desire to participate in the fighting and now after a little more than a year of faithful service in the auxiliary ranks of the French army they have been given their chance to establish their right to be in the fighting ranks.

A Bet on Dying

A company of men (mentioned in despatches and awarded a Military Cross) got pneumonia in the trenches and were sent to hospital. Where, when he was supposed to be asleep, he overheard the doctor and the nurse conferring on his case. The doctor expressed the opinion that the patient would die, and was dismayed to hear a feeble voice from the cot: "Give you five to one, in sovereigns, I don't die."

A pause. Then: "You won't? Six to one." Another pause, followed by a disgusted grunt, after which came: "No sportmen, these M.O.'s. Capital chap; clever doctor, but can't cure me. The doctor couldn't. Sever to one, doctor! Nothing doing? Wash out; get well, good 'n' get well. I'm going to sleep and to get well." And he died.

Silent Contempt

A certain man whose previous record was of the best was charged with a minor offense. Law and evidence were unquestionably on the side of the defence, but when the verdict of "guilty" was given and fine imposed.

The lawyer for the defence was sitting with his back toward the magistrate. Without changing his position or rising to address the court, he murmured:

"Judge, please fine me for contempt of court."

The magistrate inquired:

"What if I mean, sir, you have not committed contempt."

"I have," came from the old lawyer. "It's silent." From the Atlanta Journal.

Y.M.C.A. Fund

We have been asked to open a Subscription list on behalf of the Y.M.C.A., and as we recognize the great amount of good that this Association has done on behalf of "Our Boys" we willingly do so. The benefits that have been derived from the huts at the front will never be fully realized. And as all the sources the association have to draw upon are the funds the public supply, we hope that all who are able to help will give something, so how little it may be. Remember the old saw. Annual Meeting of Crossfield Red Cross Society

The annual meeting of the Red Cross Society was held in the Fire Hall, on Friday last. There was a sparse number of members present. In the absence of the President, the Vice-President Mrs. Wm. Lauck took the chair.

The Secretary's report showed that $2,002.71 had been raised by the society for Red Cross work, and the expenditures during the year had been $2,007.82, leaving a balance in hand of $54.89, which was sent to headquarters this week. 8,683 articles had been made and shipped to the Calgary Depot during the year.

Upon the resignation of Mrs. W. McRory, Mrs. A. A. Halliday was elected President.

Mrs. A. R. Thomas, 1st Vice-Pres.

„ Dungan, 2nd Vice-Pres.

The Executive Committee appointed were: Mesdames Ontkes, Wicks, Morrow and Glover.

Mrs. M. Thomas was re-elected as Secretary-Treasurer.

The Red Cross Society greatly appreciate the work done by the Country Circle under the supervision of Mrs. Scholefield, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Granley and Mrs. Lynn, also all the ladies who had assisted in any way to obtain the success thus far achieved.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. McRory for her splendid work in connection with the Red Cross, and she was made a life member of the Red Cross Society.

The Entente Cordial

between France and Great Britain was pushed to its limit by a woman who was charged with bigamy at the Old Bailey, London. She was stated to have a husband in the British and another in the French army. The woman was born in Bavaria. Leaving home when she was twelve, she travelled all over Europe as a professional skater. She arrived in England in 1914, and in the same year was married in London to her husband, a French cook. On the outbreak of the war her husband joined the French Army, and he was wounded and taken prisoner by the Germans. His wife was allowed a sum of twelve dollars monthly by the French Government. In 1915 she married a non-commissioned officer in the English Army, and she was in receipt of a separation allowance of three dollars per week from the War Office, so that she was drawing separation allowances from the French and from the English Governments.

Solving the Food Problem

Basis of Organization of the Food Controller's Office

The collective food experiences of the Dominion is to be employed to solve the food problem and secure essential food supplies for Great Britain and the allied armies and nations. There is to be the closest possible co-operation between the food controller's office, the federal and provincial governments, and national and local organizations of a public character.

The basis of organization of the food controller's office provides for the creation of six departments to deal with various phases of the food problem.

There will be a central advisory committee composed of representatives of the government, the churches, labor organizations, urban interests, farmers, rural municipalities, and women's organizations. This central body will advise the departments through the food controller.

Provincial machinery is to be established through the creation of special provincial committees to advise the government on the departments and approved by the food controller. Each provincial committee will include in its personnel representatives of the government, of the churches, of the schools, of the farmers, of labor, of the various districts, and of men's and women's associations. In addition, special committees representing producers, manufacturers, landers and consumers of food items, will be appointed to investigate and formulate plans for action on individual problems dealt with by the departments. Action has already been taken in this regard by the food, fish, and consumption control committee and the fish committee.

The interior organizations of the food controller's office will include:

- (a) Food saving department; food distribution department; food industries department; information and statistics department; business and office department; educational department.

The food saving department will deal with such problems as:

- (a) Consumption in public eating places, etc.
- (b) Instruction in methods of conservation in private houses.
- (c) Instruction in preservation of perishable products.

(c) Securing the co-operation of national, provincial and local organi-

The food industries department will have charge of:

- (a) Matters relating to flour, bread meat, fish, dairy products, canned and all manufactured food.
- (b) Preparation of certain foods

(a) To deal with purchase, prices, storage, transport and sale of food for home consumption and export problems.

(c) To advise with handlers and shippers.

The information and statistics department will have sub-divisions for:

(a) To gather statistics from government departments and international sources and tabulate them for the use of the other departments.

(b) Ascertain the quantity, location, ownership and sources of food supplies for home consumption and

Get Behind the Wheel of a Ford and Drive

TRY it just once! Ask your friend to let you "pilot" his car on an open stretch. You'll like it, and will be surprised how easily the Ford is handled and driven.

If you have never felt the thrill of driving your own car, there is something good in store for you. It is vastly different from just riding—being a passenger. And especially so if you drive a Ford.

Young boys, girls, women and even grandfathers—thousands of them—are driving Ford cars and enjoying it. A Ford starts and starts in traffic with exceptional ease and smoothness, while on country roads and hills its strength and power show to advantage.

Buy a Ford and you will want to be behind "the wheel" constantly.

Olds Teachers' Convention

The annual Convention of the Teachers' Association for the Olds Inspectorate was held at Innisfail, on the 4th and 5th of October, in conjunction with the School Fair for the same Inspectorate.

This year's convention was better attended, and more enjoyed than any previously held, and the exhibits in the School Fair were more numerous and of a higher standard, than had ever been hitherto displayed.

In conformity with the custom of this association the convention was given a practical trend, and instruction by example only was allowed. Precept was conspicuous by its absence. The work of the various sessions was conducted entirely by the teachers in the inspectorate, who conducted model lessons in the subjects chosen. The classes were applied from the Innisfail schools. The result of this was a practically resolved itself into a series of an intensive Normal School Course in observation, a result which was of particular value on this occasion by reason of the fact that a large number of the teachers in rural schools are on permit and have as yet not undergone any professional training. Indeed the sessions were, if anything, most appreciated by these young teachers several of whom expressed the opinion that they had learnt something of value to them in their work.

The sessions were held in the Methodist Church, and began with registration at 10:30 a.m., on Thursday, 4th Oct. After the invocation by the Rev. J. Fisher, the striking of committees. Inspector Aylesworth explained to those assembled what were the requirements of the Department of Education in respect to the conduct of schools.

The afternoon was opened with what has always proved perhaps the most interesting item of the programme. This was a "Rural School" operation, conducted by Miss O'Neil, of Olds. For the purpose of providing the school, fifteen pupils representing five grades were chosen from the children of Innisfail, and in spite of the fact that the teachers were entirely strange to her, Miss O'Neil gave, during one hour, a splendid demonstration of rural school management. After a short discussion this lesson was followed by a demonstration of "Fundamentals in Arithmetic." Mr. Thompson, Principal of Innisfail Schools, is a teacher of long experience in the model schools of Ontario, and, owing to the fact that some of the work was apparently new to his class, the lesson proved a demonstration of "Methods" as well as of "Fundamentals." There is a suspicion amounting to certainty in the case of the writer, that the fundamentals proved an eye-opener to many more than the pupils at the desks. This session was closed with a discussion as to the advisability of drafting and printing a new set of papers for the purpose of promoting uniformity in the grade examinations throughout the inspectorate. A committee was appointed to consider ways and means.

In the evening the teachers and several of the townspeople assembled to hear addresses and musical numbers. After brief addresses of welcome by Messrs. Dickson and Geary, and the Rev. A. A. Lytle, short replies were made on behalf of the Association by Messrs. Mitchell and Morrow. The Address of the evening was given by Mr. R. A. Barron, the Registrar of the Department of Education. The subject chosen was "The Teacher's Duty in Time of War," and while the title might appear somewhat stereotyped, it is no exaggeration to say that Mr. Barron started his audience by the obvious and sane simplicity of a viewpoint they had never before heard expressed. After he had reviewed the German and Anglo-Saxon characters as developed by their several systems of education, Mr. Barron presented his argument, which was, that the character of the child must be prepared for the coming years of World Reconstruction. This character, he said, must be one that will satisfy not only the national aspirations of our own nation, but, must also conform to the international requirements of a world united by war, and desiring for the future nothing but peace. Apart from the interest in the content of the address the hearers were delighted by a warmth of expression, and by an eloquence as inspirational as it was pleasant to listen to.

Miss Leslie, of Innisfail, opened the Friday morning session with a lesson to grade I in Phonics. During the course of lesson the certain new sounds were introduced to the pupils, and later Miss King, of Cardston, demonstrated the practical application of these sounds in a reading lesson with grade II. Both ladies are primary teachers of experience and reputation, and while each lesson was of value in itself, their chief feature lay in their sequence. A class in Physical Exercises, the main characteristic of which was the quiet ease of instruction, was conducted by Miss Brown, of Innisfail. The last lesson of the convention was given by W. J. Elliott, B.S.A., Principal of the Olds School of Agriculture. Mr. Elliott's lesson is a permanent feature of the convention at which he always conducts a Grade VIII in one or other of the chief topics in the Agricultural course. This year he taught the characteristics and requirements of a good seed bed.

Dr. Coffin, Principal of the Calgary Normal School, gave two addresses during the day. The one dealt with the necessity of self-measurement by the teacher, and the other centered around the need of centralization of aim and effort amongst the local teachers organizations.

Mr. Davis, the Secy.-Treas. of the Patriotic Fund Association of Settler and District addressed the meeting during the course of the afternoon. He is attending as many of the conventions as he can for the purpose of appealing for co-operation on the part of the teachers in the work for the coming year.

At the close of the session the teachers were taken for a tour in automobiles by the citizens of Innisfail, who placed their cars at the disposal of the entertaining committee. A storm curtailed the drive, which, however, was none the less appreciated.

In the evening the members of the association were the guests of the Town of Innisfail, at a dinner and supper in the Opera House. Before the dance the annual Public Speaking Contest, amongst the schools of the Inspectorate was held. A change had been made in the regulations this year, and the contest was held in three divisions, with a gold and silver medal as the award in each division. The divisions were: 1st, Rural Schools; 2nd, Graded Public Schools; 3rd, High Schools. Unfortunately there were no contestants entered for Division 3, hence the gold medal for the Rural Schools donated by the Hon. Duncan Marshall, remained unawarded. At the request of the Innisfail Town Council the silver medal for this Division was made a 3rd award in Division II.

The number of the contestants was 22, 16 in Div. II and 12 in Div. III. The uniformity in the speeches made the task of the judges a difficult one, while with everything considered the performance of the competitors was a credit to the educational standards of the Province. Those who stood out were: 1st, in Div. II, "My Hero," "How I would spend $1000," "What I want to be (other than for other occupation)," "Canada's part in the War," and "Canada's National Anthem."

Mrs. M. McArthur, of Olds, and Messrs. Barron and Davis very kindly consented to be the judges of the contest.

While the aim of making the arrangements for the convention fell largely on Inspector Aylesworth, much credit for the outstanding success attained is also due to several others. Mr. Thompson, who as Secy.-Treas. of the Association in September, deserves special thanks for his work during organization, and during the progress of the session. It is his kind words that the Inspectorate, "It is his kind words that the Inspectorate, which circumstance rendered it all the more of the teachers and citizens of Innisfail a kind courtesy. Mr. Geary was indefatigable in his efforts to make the convention as comfortable and enjoyable as possible, and those responsible for the conduct of the convention are greatly appreciative of his courteous and kind words. The kindness of the Rev. A. A. Lytle, and the Board of the Methodist Church afforded an ideal meeting place for the teachers, while the school board threw open their class rooms for the School Fair Exhibits. Mr. Westgate by his services, also helped to make everything ready and in the right place when required. The teachers for the School Fair were done by Mrs. Lytle, the Rev. J. Orton, the Rev. F. Fisher and Mr. Holton, of the Olds School of Agriculture. There was a host of teachers and friends, who by their loyal and unswerving co-operation made the convention almost impossible of betterment, and not easy of duplication. The resolutions passed by the teachers were as follows:

1. A vote of thanks to all who assisted.
2. That the next year's Convention meet at Olds.

3. That the Department of Education be petitioned to make provision for enabling schools to obtain pictures, periodicals and books not on the published list, from the Library Grant.

4. That in case an official, except the President of the Convention, leave the Inspectorate, his successor should assume the office.

5. That provision be made for the sending of examination sets to teachers, who shall have left the Inspectorate during the time the papers are being prepared, provided the said teachers have paid their share towards defraying the expense of the preparation of the examination sets.

Pay Will Be The Same

Men selected under the Military Service Act will receive the same pay as those now on active service receive. Pay will start from the time a man reports for duty. Money from the Patriotic Fund and Separation Allowance will also be available for selected men.

Canadian soldiers are well paid. The fact that wages in Canada are generally higher than those paid in Europe is recognized in the system of remuneration for men on active service. Clothing and all equipment in addition to food is also supplied to the Canadian soldier, leaving him with no expense except personal incidentals.

The rate of pay for men in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, other than commissioned officers, is as follows:

	Pay	Field Allowance
Warrant Officers	$2.00	30 cts.
Regimental Sergt-Major, if not a Warrant Officer	1.85	20 "
Quartermaster Sergeant	1.80	20 "
Orderly Room Clerks	1.50	20 "
Orderly Room Sergeants	1.50	20 "
Pay Sergeant	1.50	20 "
Squad, Batt., or Co. Sergt-Major	1.60	20 "
Colour-Sergeant or Staff-Sergeant	1.60	20 "
Squad, Batt., or Co. Q.M.S. Sergeant	1.50	20 "
Lance-Sergeants	1.15	15 "
Lance-Corporals	1.05	10 "
Bombardier, or Second Corporal	1.05	10 "
Trumpeters, Buglers, and Drummers	1.00	10 "
Privates, Gunners, Drivers	1.00	10 "
Sappers, Miners, etc.	1.00	10 "

As in the case of those already gone overseas, Separation Allowances will be available for those dependent for livelihood upon selected men. The Separation Allowance is $20.00 per month for the rank and file, $25.00 for sergeants and staff-sergeants and $30.00 for warrant officers. The experience is that many men can afford to assign half their pay to dependents, in addition.

A considerable number of men who have enlisted in the Canadian forces have found themselves better off under the army rate of pay, which is granted in addition to board, lodging, clothing, equipment, transportation, etc., than they were while in civilian positions. Their wants are provided for, and they receive a steady addition to the bank account each month.

Issued by The Military Service Council.
